Former United States Senator and Four Ex-Representatives Are Examined by the Investigating Committee—All Admit Interest in Legislation, but None That the Cause Is Unjust or Improper.

Washington, June 10. — Turning away from the examination of colleagues who might have been influenced in matters of legislation, the senate lobby investigating committee began to inquire into the Washington pursuits of those who might have exercised the influence.

One former senator and four men who sat at one time or other in the house of representatives admitted more or less interest in legislation, but none would say that he considered his cause unjust or that he had done anything improper.

Former Senator Charles A. Faulkner of West Virginia told the committee he represented 22 of the big railroads of the country and had represented them here for many years. He said: "My business has been to find bills that affect railroads, send them to my clients and give my opinion of them. If the railroads find something they regard as prejudicial or if they need amendment, they notify me to arrange a hearing before the committee in charge."

The other congressional witnesses were J. A. T. Hull of Iowa, A. W. Kopp of Wisconsin, Charles S. Bennett of New York and Charles B. Landis of Indiana.

Mr. Hull said he had been out of congress for two years and had been in Washington most of the time since. He had represented an association of corn products manufacturers, in which 14 concerns were interested, in connection with the pending tariff

Seeks Dissolution of the So-called Kodak Trust.

INSTITUTES SUIT AT BUFFALO

Eastman Companies of New York and New Jersey Charged With Monopolizing the Trade in Photographic Supplies in Violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law — Attorney General Asks For Injunction.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 10.—Dissolution of the so-called Eastman Kodak trust is asked in a civil anti-trust suit filed here by order of Attorney General McReynolds.

The federal government seeks the dissolution by receivership, if necessary, of the Eastman Kodak company of New Jersey and the Eastman Kodak company of New York, which are charged with monopolizing the trade in photographic supplies, in violation of the Sherman law.

It is the aim of the government to obtain a division of the business and assets of the two companies, controlling 72 per cent of the business in the United States, into such parts as will effectually destroy the alleged monopoly and restore full and free competition.

The petition in equity asks for an injunction forbidding the fixing of resale prices of cameras, films and other patented photographic supplies.

This marks the attorney general's first application of the recent decision of the United States supreme court denying the patentees the right to fix resale prices of retailers.

Following are named as defendants: Eastman Kodak company of New Jersey, Eastman Kodak company of New York, George Eastman, Henry E. Strong, Walter S. Hubbell and Frank S. Noble, all of Rochester, N. Y.

The alleged monopoly has been accomplished, the petition declares, by the Eastman company's absorbing or acquiring control of a great number of competitors in the United States and foreign countries.

Call Attention to Women's Demand For Franchise.

London, June 10. — At the weekly meeting of the Women's Social and Political Union at the Pavilion Music hall a letter was read from Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who is resting at a nursing home to recuperate from the effects of her recent hunger strike, in which she said among other things: "The brave, unselfish spirit of our dead comrade will remain with us as an inspiration and encouragement."

A telegram was read which had been sent to King George. It was as follows: "Constitutional methods of approaching our king having failed, and Miss Emily Wilding Davison having given her life to call attention to the women's passionate demands for the franchise, we ask the king to give serious attention to this appeal of womanhood."

Goethals Hints Panama Canal Will Be Opened In the Fall.

New York, June 10.—Colonel George W. Goethals, chief engineer of the Panama canal, arrived here from Colon, and went directly to Washington to confer with the president in regard to the organization of an operating force for the canal and the future policy of the Panama railroad, which is owned by the government.

After Colonel Goethals landed he submitted himself to the reporters, who wanted to know if the recent landslides would materially interfere with the work on the canal. The colonel made light of the slides and said: "The canal will be open without fail on Jan. 1, 1915. If water is allowed in earlier than that, and"—here the colonel smiled knowingly—"I understand it will be; we may put a vessel through on Oct. 15 this year."

"In case of emergency could you get a battleship through before October?"

The colonel smiled and slowly answered: "That depends how grave the emergency is."

A government ship will have the honor of going through first.

COX TO BE TRIED FIRST

Court Announces Date For Starting the Trial.

Cincinnati, O., June 10.—Judge John A. Caldwell announced that Wednesday, June 18, is the date for the starting of the trial of George B. Cox, one of eight directors indicted on charges of illegally loaning $115,000 of the funds of the Cincinnati Trust company to the Ford & Johnson Chair company. Seven pleaded not guilty and asked for separate trials. Cox was named first in the indictment and his trial was the first to be set.

Prosecutor Pogue and Attorney General Hogan filed with the supreme court at Columbus their appeal from the ruling of Common Pleas Judge Caldwell, who ordered George B. Cox and former officers of the Cincinnati Trust company acquitted of the charge of abstracting a $325,500 note from the assets of the bank.

RAILROAD MAN KILLED

Columbus, O., June 10. — William Stanley, 49, employed with the wrecking crew of the N. & W. railroad, was instantly killed when caught under moving cars while clearing away a wreck at Brannon, near this city.

FINALLY THEY GOT THE AXE RIGHT IN THE TENDER NECK

RULING ADVERSE TO RAILROADS

States Have Right to Fix Rates Within Their Own Borders.

MUST NOT BE CONFISCATORY

Important Decision Handed Down by the Supreme Court in Which the Power of State Railroad Commissions and Legislatures to Regulate Intrastate Rates Is Sustained—Ruling Disposes of Forty Cases.

Washington, June 10. — The long-awaited decision in the Minnesota rate case was handed down by the supreme court. The court unanimously decided in favor of the states and against federal control. The railroads thus lose their fight on the big principle involved in the case. They had hoped through this litigation to shake off what they held burdensome rates which the authorities of many states have fixed for intrastate traffic and to establish the control of the interstate commerce commission in all cases where there is a conflict between its authority and the authority of the state officials.

The effect of the decision is to sustain the power of the state railroad commissions and state legislatures to fix 2-cent passenger or other rates on business exclusively within the states, provided always that the rates are not confiscatory.

The supreme court in this important decision holds clearly, however, that congress has the power to override state authorities as regards the fixing of rates which affect interstate business whenever the national legislature shall elect to exercise such authority. In putting this problem frankly up to congress there is apparently little hope of immediate relief for the railroads.

As to the specific effect of the decision upon the railroads immediately involved, the court holds that the rates fixed by the Minnesota state authorities in the case of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific are not confiscatory. These reduced rates on intrastate business will therefore go into effect, the rates up to this time having been held up by an injunction granted by the lower court. The supreme court's decision on this point, however, is without prejudice, and it will be possible for the railroads to reopen the case in the future if they can prove that the rates are confiscatory.

In the case of the Minnesota & St. Louis Railroad company, which was the other line involved in the proceedings, the rates fixed by the Minnesota authorities are held to be confiscatory and will not therefore go into effect.

While only the single case involving the authority of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission was decided, more than 40 cases were before the court involving generally the same principle.

The decision was announced by Justice Hughes and consisted of some 35,000 words. The court was unanimous with the possible exception of Justice McKenna, who merely "concurred in the results."

FLYER KILLS ONE

REESEVILLE STORE ROBBED LAST NIGHT BY YEGGMEN

Front Door Was Battered in and the Safe Blown to Pieces in a Manner Which Shows Expert Skill.

NEIGHBORS HEARD NOISE WHEN DOOR WAS BROKEN.

One of the Robbers Patrolled the Outside While Others Rifled Store and Safe. Loot Secured Small. No Clue.

Monday some time between midnight and one o'clock, some men, judging from their work are no novices at the game, broke into the B. & O. railway section house at Reesville and abstracted the heavy tools.

With the heavy crow bars and hammers taken from the railroad tool house they battered down the front door of The Reesville Grocery Co., owned by George Rhonemus. The door is a complete wreck and even the jams are split and torn to pieces.

Inside the store the robbers blew open the safe in the artistic manner of expert yeggmen, and rifled it of its contents.

The safe too was literally blown to pieces and is a complete wreck.

Soap was used in liberal quantities by the yeggs in preparing the doors for the explosion. Every crevice in the safe was filled with soap.

The contents of the safe were scattered over the floor of the store, indicating a hasty search by the robbers for valuables. That they were evidently disappointed in the haul made is evidenced from the confusion in which the contents of both store and safe were left.

The robbery was not discovered until early this morning when Mr. Rhonemus went to his store to open for the day's business.

Nearby residents say that some time between twelve and one o'clock they were aroused by the baying of the watch dogs and the noise the men made in breaking into the section house. The only nearby residents who were aroused were a woman and her young son. They were alone in the house and having no telephone could not summon help.

They were afraid to venture out in search of help because one of the robbers stood guard on the outside of the store while the others operated inside.

The Yeggmen only obtained twenty-five dollars in change owing to the fact that Mr. Rhonemus had taken the currency from the store home with him at the close of business Monday night.

The sheriff of Clinton county was summoned by phone and that official rushed immediately to the scene of the robbery, but up to noon today he had discovered absolutely nothing which would lead to the arrest of the perpetrators. The sheriff feels confident that experts and not local taken planned and executed the job.

Chief McCoy was called at an early hour this morning and informed of the robbery and asked to watch for and search all incoming freight trains. The chief found patrolman Noah Bell already at the B. & O. station and upon the arrival of the freight a thorough search was made but no one found.

So far as any tangible clue yet discovered is concerned the affair promises to remain a mystery. The perpetrators have disappeared as completely it seems, as if the ground had opened and swallowed them up.

Once was the need of you
A pain too great to bear,
And all my heart went calling you
In work and song and prayer.

But now dull time has brought
A sadder, stranger lot—
That I should look upon the day
And find I need you not.

FLOOD EMERGENCY LAW HELD VALID TREASURERS HELD LIABLE FOR INTEREST

Special to Herald.

Columbus, O., June 10.—The Supreme court today handed down a number of important decisions among them was the one knocking out as unconstitutional and therefore invalid, the law exempting contributing members of the Ohio National Guard from jury service.

Another important decision was the one upholding the validity of the flood emergency act in an action brought by a taxpayer against the auditor of Hamilton county.

The court also reversed the holding of four years ago in a Starke county case and held that money paid into the county treasury for construction of ditches is county funds and treasurers who loan such money out and pocket the interest can be made to disgorge.

COUNTERFETTERS ARE OPERATING NEAR PLYMOUTH

Harry Mark, of the Store at That Place Has Found a Number of Lead "Nickels" in His Chewing Gum Machine.

SOME ONE IS DUE FOR WORLD'S OF TROUBLE.

Some one out in the neighborhood of South Plymouth, Jasper township, is playing with fire which will certainly consume them if they don't let it alone.

Mr. Harry Mark, of the Plymouth store, reports that a number of lead pieces have been passed on his chewing gum machine and goods extracted therefrom as a consequence.

That is one offense, but not the most serious one nor the one most terrible in its consequences by any manner of means.

Instead of the ordinary lead slugs of the size and weight of a "nickel" coin the piece used is an imitation of a nickel five cent piece.

The counterfeit nickel for that is just what it is, is crude to be sure, but none the less a counterfeit, and one which will subject any person having any of them in his possession as well as the maker, to arrest and imprisonment by Uncle Sam's authority.

The penalty for counterfeiting is extremely severe and the government spares neither expense nor trouble in running to earth and punishing to the limit of the law all offenders.

If they are not already on the ground looking for the guilty parties the national government will soon have a young army of secret service men in the vicinity who will run to earth any party guilty of making or handling these "coins", just as certainly as they live and continue in the dangerous work.

When once apprehended on what is deemed by the sleuths of the government to be sufficient evidence, and taken before the United States court the offender experiences about the roughest sledding of his career—he has just about as much chance to escape a long sentence to the federal penitentiary as a celluloid dog has to catch an asbestos cat in the region of eternal fire.

Somebody is due for a world of trouble in the neighborhood of Plymouth and that very shortly, too.

Four bids covering the iron superstructures were received, the successful bidder in each instance being R. C. Hunt, of this city. On the Oakland avenue bridge, Mr. Hunt bid $3,965, the Oregonia Bridge Co., $4,995 and the York Bridge Co., $5,300.

For the Ghormley, 2-span bridge, Mr. Hunt bid, $4,950; The Oregonia Bridge Co., $4,975; Champion Bridge Co., $4,995 and the York Bridge Co., $5,300.

ON THE WAY

While the cold spell of the past few days has not broken any records, Weather Forecaster Devereaux said Monday that in the past 24 years Cincinnati has but once experienced temperature as low as those which obtained Monday.

The low mark was reached Monday morning at 5 o'clock, when the Weather Bureau thermometers registered 43 degrees, and at no time during the day did the mercury reach the 70 mark. The June cold weather record, according to Weather Bureau statistics, was made in 1889, when the low mark of 39 degrees was reached.

Warmer weather is predicted by Weather Forecaster Devereaux for Tuesday, but the rise in temperature, he says, will be very slow until Wednesday, when it will rise faster.

COLDEST JUNE DAY

Columbus, O., June 10.—Yesterday was the coldest June day in the history of Ohio, according to records of the local weather bureau headquarters. Thermometers this morning registered 37 degrees. There are light frosts in some parts of the state, but this is not general, due to the heavy winds which prevailed during the night. The damage from frosts was light. The local weather bureau has a record of 41 degrees for June, 1885. Although official records of the office do not show it, according to accredited reports the thermometer registered 40 degrees on June 5, 1869.

Time to Put a Stop to It

There may be some good grow out of the riot between state militiamen and bystanders in an Ohio City on Decoration Day. As a result of that conflict some level-headed, fair-minded Ohio citizen has proposed that it be made an offense punishable by the infliction of a heavy fine and a stiff prison sentence for any one to make insulting remarks to or remarks derogatory of the personal appearance or the vocation of a member of the O. N. G., whether he is in uniform or not.

Some guardsmen while marching in the Decoration parade were so grossly insulted and vilified by persons of socialistic and anarchistic tendencies among the spectators that human patience gave way and a good substantial old time thrashing was administered to their tormentors by the boys who wore the uniform of the state.

It is eminently proper that the state of Ohio take some means of protecting the guardsmen against these ruffians who, too cowardly to fight, take advantage of the discipline which holds the guardsmen powerless to defend themselves and heap all manner of abuse upon them.

These boys are entitled to be treated with respect. Time and again they have been called upon when trouble bore heavily upon the people and always have they been ready to respond.

During the March floods they worked day and night and performed deeds of valor in the rescue work which will go down side by side with brave deeds on the field of battle.

What these boys are required to endure and retain their tempers requires in itself a courage which should receive the highest respect.

Quite enough cheap coarse "fun" has been enjoyed by loafers and cowards at the expense of the National Guard of the state and the adoption of some means to check the tormentors would be welcomed by all fair minded people.

American Shoes Abroad

All the world takes American boots and shoes. The number of countries, colonies and dependencies to which these exports went last year aggregated approximately one hundred. Cuba is the largest buyer of this class of merchandise. The value of boots and shoes exported to that island from the United States during the fiscal year, 1912, the latest period for which details of distribution to all countries are available, was practically three million dollars out of a total of sixteen million dollars' worth of leather boots and shoes exported in that year. To Canada the exports in that year amounted to two and one-half million dollars; England, one and one-half million; Germany, practically one million; Panama, three-quarters of a million; France, Austria-Hungary, the Philippine Islands, and the British West Indies, each about a half million dollars; Argentina and Italy, each one-third of a million, and Brazil, a quarter of a million dollars. To all Europe the total was four and one-half million dollars; to North America, nine million; to South America, one and one-fourth million; to Oceania, nearly one million; to Africa, a quarter of a million dollars, and to Asia near a hundred thousand dollars.

The imports of leather boots and shoes which amounted to about one-quarter of a million dollars in value all told were chiefly from the United Kingdom.

All of which figures would seem to indicate that American shoe manufacturers are strictly up to the second in quality and price in the markets of the world, fully capable, judging by the trade which comes their way of competing with the foreign made goods even in foreign markets.

No industry in the country has made greater growth and greater progress in efficiency during the last twenty-five years than the manufacture of shoes.

The report of the department is highly complimentary to the American shoe builders.

Too Many New Crimes Are Being Created

By SAMUEL W. PENNYPACKER, former Governor of Pennsylvania

IN MY OPINION TOO MANY NEW CRIMES ARE BEING CREATED. IF ALL OF US WERE SENT TO JAIL FOR ALL THE CRIMES WE COMMIT UNDER THE LAW MOST OF US WOULD SPEND OUR LIVES IN JAIL.

In one year when I was governor forty new crimes were created, while as a matter of fact all the offenses WERE NOT CRIMES. For instance, I buy two opera tickets, one for myself and one for my friend. Suppose my friend falls sick and I try to do the most natural thing—sell the ticket—I have COMMITTED A CRIME. Again, a man makes a certain brand of ginger ale that he puts in a bottle with his name on it. He does not want that bottle used again, so he has the use of it made a crime.

Poetry For Today

OLD JAPAN.

I can hear the children clapping
Hidden in the misty morning
On the shores of Old Japan—
I can see the junk sail flapping
Red with light that's ruddier dawn-
ing
On the snows of Fuji San.

While the filmy haze is lifting
I can see through many a rifling
Shaggy fir-trees, little islands,
Like a painted Nippon fan,
Like a fan that's silver rounded,
For the bay is sandy bounded.
Stretching to the flowery high lands
Of the heart of Old Japan.

Here are things that Westerners share not,
Here business, time and haste compare not.

In the dull or in the clever
With the peace of mind of man
Here with joy in dust and glamor
Droning chant, and rinking clamor
Naked children play for ever
Simple games of Old Japan.

Play on them till bats are dipping,
Till the shades of night come tripping

And your souls in dark are hidden
Sweet Kodomo and Nesan,
For a darker shade approaching
From the westward is encroaching,
Pressing onward unforbidden
Round the shores of Old Japan.

And while temple gongs are boom-
ing
By pagodas dimly looming

And by many an ancient tortile
And by paper lanterns wan,
Progress comes with fingers stealing
Without mercy, without feeling,
Waiting but to grip your story,
Then they'll close it, Old Japan.

OBITUARY.

Louise Izora, daughter of Wm. and Ottilie Elliott, was born February 18, 1912, departed this life June 9th, 1913, aged 1 year, 3 months and 18 days.

She succumbed to the disease of whooping cough. While life here seemed so short, yet her life beyond for her, is sure and eternal. In our home she was the bright hope and attraction of our lives. Papa and mamma will never forget. Grandpa and grandma will ever remember the pattering feet, the chattering tongue, those laughing eyes, which are now, to them, stilled in death. But fond memory will recall to them that she is not dead, but asleep in the arms of Jesus, who so sweetly said, "Suffer little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not, for such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Now, if we could peer through the portals of Heaven and see the multitudes of children surrounded by myriads of angels, singing the sweet songs of Heaven, we would see Louise Izora in their midst. Now, as her life here, was so short, let us remember that her life was pure and spotless, white as snow. No better life can we lead than the lesson taught by our Savior—follow Louise Izora.

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

The Indianapolis Interurban Terminal station has the reputation of being the finest and best in the country, but there is now building a station for interurbans at Dallas, Texas, that will be far ahead in every respect. Costing more than $20,000,000, the accommodations for the public will be more thoroughly provided and up-to-date, ground area larger and buildings larger and more expensive and beautiful. At first 500 trains will enter daily though the number will increase as the territory around Dallas becomes more populated.

The Seminole tribe of Indians, living in Florida, have been homeless for some 25 years, but now their wandering life is to be finished as the state has granted them 213,000 acres of land in the heart of the Everglades for a permanent home. These Indians refuse to treat with the Federal government, alleging the "Great Father" in Washington broke treaties with them as fast as made until their confidence was "no more."

By passage of the Illinois legislature of a bill which gives women the right to vote on all but constitutional state officers and police magistrates, the women residents of Illinois can now vote for presidential electors, town, county, township, and on all questions of public policy. Also such state officers whose positions have been created by the legislature and not by the constitution. Including in these offices all those relating to the assessing and collecting of taxes. This is the climax of a fight drawn out 58 years.

Champions in all branches of athletics in every part of the world have been engaged by a moving picture company to show on a film the wrong and the correct way of doing their peculiar stunt. These films will be used to teach amateurs and the plan is receiving much attention by clubs and around athletic centers.

President Wilson is a real baseball fan and as such he is making a strong appeal to the multitude of fans in Washington. He has attended every game but one played on the home grounds this season, and it is understood that it is his plan to maintain this record, if the public business will permit. The president stands up regularly in the seventh inning for luck with the other enthusiasts, and whenever the crowd rises at other times to cheer and throw up hats, the president gets up too, and cheers as loudly as anybody. Just for this reason, if for no other, President Wilson seems destined to be popular with the Washington people.

It is announced that the monks of St. Athos are preparing to send to Athens the imperial robe and crown which belonged to the ancient Byzantine empress, for use as the coronation of King Constantine. The robe which is of beaten gold, weighs 50 pounds and the crown which will probably become the crown of Greece is studded with precious stones.

Witcher's Appointment Held Invalid. Albany, N. Y., June 10.—The appellate division of the supreme court, third department, in an extraordinary session ordered by Governor Sulzer, upheld the contention of Attorney General Carnody that the governor exceeded his authority when he appointed Jon Mitchell as state labor commissioner. An appeal will be made to the court of appeals.

ALSO PLEASED

Columbus, O., June 10.—Members of the Ohio public service commission consider the supreme court's ruling in the Minnesota freight rate case of vital importance to the Ohio laws. It is thought the decision will allay any attempt to attack the 2-cent fare law in this state, which often has been threatened.

A GLIMPSE BACK THROUGH YEARS

(John E. M. Kerr.)

April 28, 1870.

Yesterday afternoon a drove of 185 turkeys were driven through Fayette street on their way to the tobacco plantations of Connecticut. Turkeys travel much faster than swine or horned cattle, making 25 miles a day with ease, after stopping several times for feed. This is the second drove of turkeys that has passed through town during the past few weeks. They were mostly young of last year's hatching, and some of the hens have already commenced dropping their eggs on the route.

We accidentally omitted to call attention last week to the new advertisement of G. H. Adams and Bro., but our readers could scarcely have failed to notice it as it speaks out for itself. You needn't look further than G. H. Adams and Bros. for fine goods and low prices.

City Charter for Washington?

If the People of This City Desire to Avail Themselves of a New Form of Government, Here Is Another Important Feature in City Government.

The Referendum

The purpose of the referendum in municipal government is to enable the voters to veto any act of the legislative body of the city. The referendum has been used in Springfield, a referendum having been taken at the regular election last November upon the ordinance of council vacating Gallacher street.

The usual method upon which the referendum operates is that of preventing any act of the legislative body, with the exception of certain emergency measures, from becoming effective, varying in the majority of cases from 30 to 60 days. If the people desire to have the legislation submitted to the voters for their approval or rejection, this step is accomplished by the filing of a petition containing the names of not less than a certain percentage of the voters of the city, asking that the legislation be referred to the voters.

The first effect of the petition is to prevent the legislation from going into effect until a vote is taken upon it. The percentage of voters whose signatures are needed to make a petition effective, and the time for the elections, vary in different cities. Advocates of the referendum do not agree themselves as to the percentage, and in some instances all questions must be voted upon at the next regular election, while in others the questions referred must be voted upon within a given period following the filing of the petition, either at a special election or at a general election, if one falls within the period.

Emergency measures, such as legislation required to meet immediate and highly important public necessities, are not usually subject to the referendum.

In the initiative and the referendum the voters have a means of compelling or restraining legislation. In addition to controlling the legislation, it is claimed by some that the people should have the right to remove officials with whom they are not satisfied.

The recall is intended to confer this right. It will be described tomorrow evening.

Columbus, O., June 10. The official ax of Secretary of Agriculture Houston fell again when I. bill, presenting his case by filing briefs with the house ways and means committee, and sending letters to senators.

Mr. Hall told of other concerns which he represents, but declared that he did not consider himself a lobbyist in the sense of a candidate of the term.

Although he had been declined, Mr. Knapp said, at the camp of solicitation of people in his home district he had come back to Washington to present arguments in behalf of the lead and zinc schedules.

Former Congressman Bennett told of filing a brief in behalf of the Diamond Trade Tariff League in May. He sent printed copies to all senators and copies to the subcommittee which had the diamond schedule in course, and saw two members of the subcommittee during an hour's stay in Washington.

Mr. Landis, out of congress for four years, said he had been in the employ of the Dupont Powder company for three. He said his principal business with the concern was to build up the South American trade. He was a member of the house foreign affairs committee, he said, and believed that fact had something to do with his employment, which came unsolicited by him.

OVER COTTON RATES

Struggle On Between Southern Senators and Representatives.

Washington, June 10.—A struggle is on between southern Democrats in the house and senate over the cotton rates of the Underwood tariff bill. House Democrats are incensed over a report that they believe was inspired by their brethren in the senate, to the effect that Chairman Underwood and his associates made some blunders that resulted in the levying of higher rates on low-grade cottons than conditions warranted. It is a fight between southern senators who are demanding more protection on cottons of southern manufacture and southern house members who insist that the Underwood rates are just what they should be.

LOOKS GOOD

VICTORY FOR RAILROADS

How Financier Erb Regards the Supreme Court's Decision.

New York, June 10.—Newman Erb, railroad financier, president of the Ann Arbor railroad, the Pere Marquette and the Denver & Salt Lake railroad and of other railroads, said he regards the decision in the Minnesota rate case as a complete victory in every respect for the railroads, and that the decision will do more than anything that has happened in years to restore the confidence of the investing public in railroad securities.

Two main questions are involved, said Mr. Erb. "First, there was the right of the state or of the interstate commerce commission to establish a rate that is confiscatory or unreasonable. The United States supreme court now holds that the state can not make a rate that is confiscatory, or that fails to yield a reasonable return on the value of the property. To that extent the opinion is general and applies to all the railroads in the country, and gives to railroad investors a stability which they have not hitherto enjoyed. The other point is in the effect that states may wish to put on their established local rates, but these rates must not interfere with the rates fixed by the interstate commerce commission and by that body declared to be reasonable."

Norfolk, Va., June 10.—With the American gunboat Nashville acting as scout, the steamer line steamer Olinda is racing for Charleston, S. C., with the racing in No. 1 hold and her crew almost exhausted from fighting the flames.

The Olinda, when 175 miles south of Fishing Gun Shoals, sent out wireless calls for assistance. The Nashville, bound to New York from the south, was within a few miles of the burning vessel and hurried to her assistance. The steamer Corvaya and several others came up later. The Nashville sent a firefighting crew to the Olinda and helped to subdue the flames in the steamer's hold. The Olinda carries a crew of 54 and a full cargo. She left New York last Friday for Cuba.

SOME COUNCILMEN OPPOSE CALLING CHARTER ELECTION

Several members of City Council have expressed themselves as not being in favor of calling an election by which the voters may announce whether or not they desire a commission to frame a city charter.

The members of Council who do not look favorably upon the idea of Council calling an election justify their attitude by pointing out that the law provides how the people of the municipality may declare to Council their desire to have an election called—by petition.

In the absence of such a declaration of desire on the part of the people of the city, those Councilmen feel that it would be presumption on the part of Council to call an election on its own initiative.

The people may or may not want to incur the expense and annoyance of a campaign of that sort, but until they have declared in the mode pointed out by law, just what their intention, it is a matter of opinion only with Councilmen.

Councils in many other cities of Ohio are adopting the course of waiting for the people to move and declare their desires.

Other members of Council who hold a contrary view claim it is Council's duty to ascertain the sentiment of the public and to act on its own motion without waiting for the people to initiate the movement.

The question of Council's attitude promises to be the subject of much discussion. Just what the official action will be when the time comes cannot, of course, be forecasted from personal views now being expressed. As none of the councilmen go so far now as to state what they will do officially.

STRANGERS LIGHT MISERABLY DRUNK LANDED BY CHIEF

One of Them Proves to be a Former Resident Who Purloined $7 From His Landlady.

BOTH MEN RELATE

STORY OF ACCIDENT.

Later Investigation Proves That the Story of Accident was "Moonshine." Unable to Pay Fine and Costs They Are Taken to the Works.

Monday evening about nine o'clock while Chief McCoy was making his rounds of the business section of the city, he encountered on Court street a pair of full-blown drunks.

In answering the questions of the chief, each one of the men experienced great difficulty in pulling his tongue away from the roof of his mouth and forcing it between his parched lips with sufficient accuracy and force to make his words understood.

From the muddled duet of talk, the chief gathered that the pair were telling him of a frightful accident which had occurred at West Carrollton, Ohio, where they had been working on a big dam. As a result of the accident, two men and four horses lost their lives and the two men trying to tell the tale had fled from the awful scene.

The story didn't sound real well to the chief and he popped this one over the plate.

"What are you doing here?"

"Looking for a bed," was the answer.

Chief McCoy bowed he had beds to spare and he kindly proffered the use of two of them to the weary travelers. They made no pretense of declining the invitation of the hospitable chief and followed him to the cooler.

Later the chief called up West Carrollton and learned that the accident story was all a fake and that the two travelers, one of whom gave the name Lew Toringoo, and the other the name of Bert Cheney were participants in a drunken fight which occurred among the laborers at the dam, and had fled from the consequences of their acts.

Cheney was this morning identified as the chap who last fall stole $7 from Mrs. Moats at whose home he was boarding. Since that time Cheney has been wanted by the local police.

Before Mayor Smith Tuesday morning each man received a fine of $5.00 and costs. Unable to settle the damage bill they were taken to the Dayton work house on the evening train where an opportunity to work out their fine and costs will be extended by the keepers.

BIG BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

An important business transaction was put through Tuesday morning when the garage owned and operated by Moore and Jamison changed hands. Mr. Chas. A. Gossard buying back his former interest and Mr. Ben Jamison retiring from the firm.

The name of the garage will be changed back to the C. A. Gossard Automobile Co., as it was formerly known.

The partnership now formed also includes Lewis Moore and W. D. Chandler.

The new management will continue to operate along the same lines which have been followed and which have contributed to the popularity of this thoroughly up-to-date garage.

Mr. Jamison is extensively engaged in the sale of automobiles and real estate and found it impossible to give to the garage as much attention as it demanded. He will now devote his entire time to his other businesses.

COURT OF HONOR WORK GOING ON IN GOOD ORDER

Work on the Court of Honor is progressing rapidly and entirely satisfactorily. A big force of men under command of the expert decorating corps commenced Monday morning the erection of the massive looking white columns on each side of Court street between Main and Fayette.

Connecting each pillar with its companions will be strands of brilliant multi-colored electric lights, while around each column provision is made for circles of lights—base and top.

The work already done assures the fulfillment of the promise that the Court of Honor will be, when completed, the most beautiful, imposing and effective piece of decorating ever attempted in this city.

The progress made Monday is an assurance also that the men in charge of the work are thoroughly "onto the job," and other provisions for public decorations will be on the same elaborate and effective plane of the Court of Honor.

The work done on Court street between Main and Fayette already, in its preliminary state, excited the admiration of every passerby.

FALL DOWN CELLAR RESULTS IN DEATH

While engaged in preparing a meal, Mrs. Henry Gray fell backwards down the cellar stairway at her home in Chillicothe Monday, and was instantly killed. She struck her head on an overhead obstruction and the force of the blow threw her off her balance. The fall crushed her skull and broke her neck. Mrs. Gray was alone and the body was not found until her husband came home an hour and a half later.

Mr. O. F. Sturgeon leaves this evening on a business trip to Indianapolis.

HORSE STEALING REPORTED HERE BY COLUMBUS COPS

Sunday evening about 8.30 o'clock the local police department was notified to be on the lookout for a horse and buggy stolen Sunday afternoon from a hitching rack on one of the streets of the capital city.

The police were authorized to offer a reward of $25 for the recovery of the horse or the apprehension of the thief.

The horse was described as a sorrel with white front foot and deep scar near the hoof. The body was liberally specked with small white spots.

The buggy was a phaeton Columbus Buggy Company make.

The outfit belongs to the Blue Ribbon Livery stables and was hired out to two young men who left it hitched to the rack from which it was stolen.

Local police are keeping a sharp lookout for the rig or the thieves, but so far no trace of either has been seen in this locality.

The jury, however, allowed the plaintiffs $1500.

Mrs. Brown willed Mrs. Logston a farm of 580 acres valued at $25,000.

CLASS DAY PROGRAM AT CONSERVATORY

A beautiful class day program was given by the 1913 graduates of Stinson Conservatory Saturday afternoon at 2.30, the forerunner of the annual commencement which takes place tonight at Conservatory hall.

The hall was crowded Saturday afternoon with one of the most appreciative as well as the largest audiences in Conservatory annals.

The class of 1913, with much patriotism, had chosen red, white and blue as the class colors and the elaborate stage decorations, the gowns of the graduates and those of the young girls ushering, Miss Lous Hankins, Sedalia, Miss Ethel Nisley, Selden, Miss Virginia Stiles, all introduced the national colors.

An immense flag formed the background of the stage, either side flanked by flags and flowers. In the center were seated the three graduates, Misses Beulah Elliott and Nellie Bridwell in piano, Miss Nona Thompson, in elocution, and with them the faculty, Mrs. Eldora Stinson, Mrs. P. G. Carpenter, Misses Golda Baughn, Gladys Butcher, Kenneth Kellough.

The program was opened by Misses Bridwell and Elliott in Beethoven's Sonata Pathetique, one of the greatest of Beethoven's compositions and difficult in the extreme. The two pianos were played as one, the ensemble work really remarkable.

Miss Elliott did excellent work in a number of concert numbers, her octaves and forearm work especially good. She played Chopin's "Berceuse" beautifully, her credenzas admirable, and in the Spring Song showed delicacy of touch in pleasing contrast to her heavy work. The young pianist excelled in her rendition of "Fauriel", Raff, and her numbers throughout the evening were varied and difficult.

Miss Bridwell displayed conscientious work in ambitious renditions, her technique all the more worthy of comment as she has a small hand, not easily able to span octaves. In her playing of Sherwood's arrangement of "Octave Etude No. 5," this feature was marked. Miss Bridwell played "Valse in C Sharp Minor" Chopin, beautifully, and brought out the tone quality in "Caprice", Newland, effectively, giving its rapid runs with artistic skill. Her finest concert number was "Hungarian Concerto", Alford.

The two Schubert-Liszt numbers, "Hark! Hark! the Lark!" Miss Bridwell, "Hark! the Lark!" Miss Elliott were two of the most ambitious numbers of the program. Mrs. Stinson sang "Hark! the Lark" in her own arrangement of Schubert's song to Liszt's transcription.

Miss Thompson made a very favorable impression in her work as a reader and flattering comments were heard as well as persistent applause. Miss Thompson has a fine stage presence and was exceedingly good in her varied impersonations. Especially enthusiastic was the audience after her reading of "Old Aunt Mary".

Misses Elliott and Bridwell played a beautiful Chaminade piano duo as a fitting climax to the program.

GIRL'S BODY FOUND IN PAINT CREEK

The body of Margaret McNutt, the 12-year-old girl who was drowned in Paint creek, near Chillicothe Saturday, May 31, has just been found floating in the water a mile and a quarter below the scene of the accident. It is not known whether the work of the dynamiters sent out to recover the body caused it to be dislodged or not. Men rowing in a boat were attracted by the odor from the decomposing body, caught in the overhanging branches of a tree. The body was prepared for burial by a Chillicothe undertaker and shipped to the home of the parents at McArthur, sealed in a casket.

Relatives will not be permitted to view the remains.
